(ROMANS 15:13) AMP

Welcome to 2025 --- your year of Overflowing Promises! As we enter this new season, God has released a fresh dimension of faith that will transform how we receive what He has committed to do in our lives.

The beauty of God's Word for us this year lies in its three-fold nature: the God of hope as its source, faith as its channel, and the Holy Spirit as its power. This combination guarantees not just fulfillment but overflowing abundance in every promise.

In Romans 4:20-21, Paul tells us Abraham grew strong in faith as he gave glory to God, being fully convinced that God was able to perform what He had promised. Abraham's faith is remarkable, and it yielded equally remarkable results because it rested on God's proven character. He understood that God's promises aren't just statements of intent but extensions of His unchangeable nature.

In his book, Up From Slavery, the African-American scholar and activist, Booker T. Washington tells of meeting an ex-slave from Virginia who had made a contract with his master before the Emancipation Proclamation to buy his freedom through installment payments.

This man found better wages in Ohio and relocated there. When the Emancipation Proclamation was signed, he still owed his former master three hundred dollars. Though legally freed from any obligation, this man walked most of the way back to Virginia to pay his former master the final dollar with interest.

When Washington asked about this extraordinary act, the man simply stated that while he knew he was legally free from the debt, he had given his word. He had never broken his word before, and he felt he couldn't fully enjoy his freedom until he had fulfilled his promise.

If a man would go to such lengths to honor his word -- walking hundreds of miles to pay a debt he was legally freed from -- how much more will God, who is faithful by nature, fulfill every promise He has made to you?

It is time to dust off those promises that seemed delayed, those dreams that appeared too ambitious, and those divine assignments that felt overwhelming. God is releasing a supernatural capacity to not just hold onto His promises, but to overflow with the certainty of their fulfillment. The same Holy Spirit that filled the early church with boldness is energizing your faith for unprecedented manifestations. You're not waiting for God to decide whether to fulfil

His Word, you're positioning yourself for the 'how' of its fulfillment.

Here are three things we must keep in mind as we make abundant space for the manifestation of God's Overflowing Promises:

- 1. Promise Identification: This is your season to intentionally identify every promise God has spoken over your life -- through His Word, through prophecy, through divine inspiration. Create your personal inventory of divine promises. Remember, what God speaks, He sustains.
- 2. Promise Activation: Faith isn't passive, it's dynamically active. Each promise requires corresponding actions that demonstrate your conviction in God's faithfulness. What steps is God asking you to take? What declarations should you be making? What preparations should you begin? The Holy Spirit, as your divine partner, provides both the power for manifestation and the wisdom for timing. Let Him guide your actions and strengthen your hope when circumstances challenge your faith.
- 3. Promise Multiplication: God's promises have a reproductive quality. One fulfilled promise becomes the foundation for greater promises. Position yourself for this supernatural multiplication of divine fulfillment.

GOD IS RELEASING A SUPERNATURAL CAPACITY TO NOT JUST HOLD ONTO HIS PROMISES, BUT TO OVERFLOW WITH THE CERTAINTY OF THEIR FULFILMENT

Our theme scripture says by the power of the Holy Spirit you will abound in hope and overflow with confidence in His promises. What does it mean to abound in hope? The word abound suggests something that exists in great plenty, like a rushing river overflowing its banks. When you abound in hope, you're not just optimistic -- you're saturated with an unshakeable expectation of good, a supernatural confidence produced by the Holy Spirit that refuses to be diminished by contrary circumstances. To abound in hope means having such an abundance of divine expectation that it spills over into every area of your life, affecting not just how you see your future, but how you face your present.

This is the year we approach God's promises with renewed confidence. When He says healing, expect complete restoration. When He promises provision, anticipate abundance. When He speaks advancement, prepare for unprecedented elevation. His promises aren't limited by human logic or current circumstances.

Some promises will manifest suddenly, like Paul's Damascus Road experience. Others will unfold progressively, like Joseph's journey to the palace. Your role is to stay in faith, maintaining your confession regardless of temporary contradictions. Remember, God's faithfulness isn't dependent on your perfect performance but on His perfect nature. He who began the good work in you is faithfully committed to its completion. Every promise He has made is backed by His integrity and powered by His Spirit.

The Holy Spirit's presence in your life guarantees your inheritance as an heir of God's promises. He is the sustainer of your hope and the activator of every promise. Let Him guide you into the fullness of what God has prepared.

Step out boldly this year. Declare confidently. Receive abundantly. Your God is faithful, and His promises to you are Yes and Amen!

Happy New Year!
